THURSDAY, SEPT. 24, 1896.

Nepawa Press: This is the season of the year when the year when the big departmental stores in the east flood the country with their catalogues, quoting bottom prices for all sorts of tail-enis and out-of-date stuff with a view to catching unwary purchasers by their "cheap for cash" offers. A number have found their way into the waste paper basket of this office, which is the proper place for them. Dealers who will not advertise in the press need not expect to capture the editor's trade. It looks a little suspicious that those far-off merchants should find it necessary to push their wares in remote localities. If the goods cannot be sold in the east and are not worth advertising in the newspapers it is pretty safe to wager they are not A.1. In this connection the following from an eastern exchange (whence these circulars come) may be quoted:

"Who is the home merchant?
He is the man who helps to pay for the streets upon which you walk; for the schools in which your children and perhaps you were educated; he helps to keep up the church in which you worship. He is the man who builds a house, which enhances the value of your property.
Every subscription paper that is passed has his name on it; he is the man who cannot afford to swindle you. Self interest, if nothing else, would prevent this. He bears his share of the burden of good government; stays right with you in sunshine and darkness, in days of prosperity. These are but a few of the reasons why your patronage should be given to the home merchant."

That is, we might add, if he carries a stock that he is not afraid nor too niggardly to advertise.

Northwest Legislature.

Governor Macintosh says the session of the Northwest legislature is likely to witness a departure toward freer self-government. All territorial business has in the past been audited at Ottawa as well as at Regina. This will now be done away with and the audit of the territorial auditor will suffice. The plan of each member looking after the expenditure of monies in his own district will also likely be changed, and all public works will be done under the direction of the executive on the report of an inspector. This is an officer who will likely shortly be appointed. The Dominion government retains the right of veto of territorial ordinances.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Beats the Record.

With the advent of today Her Majesty Queen Victoria has reigned longer than any other British sovereign. Flags are flying in all parts of the Dominion in honor of this interesting landmark in Her Majesty's reign. George the Third reigned 59 years and 95 days.

Bishop Grisdale Enthroned.

Yesterday the ceremony of enthroning the new bishop took place in St. Peter's pro-cathedral, Qu'Appelle, at the appointed hour. The church was comfortably filled by members and others gathered to witness the interesting and imposing ceremony.
On his arrival at the west door of the church the bishop was met by the vicar and clergy, and presented by an address of welcome which was read by Mr. F. E. Parker, on behalf of the vicar, clergy, church warden, and people of the parish, which is as follows:

To the Right Reverend John Grisdale, D.D., D.C.L., Lord Bishop of Qu'Appelle:

Reverend Father in God—We, the vicar, church warden and vestrymen, in the name of the parishioners of St. Peter's pro-cathedral, beg to welcome you on this your first official visit to your diocese, and would assure you of our willing obedience and devotion to one who under God's providence has been called to the sacred office of bishop and chief pastor over us.

Mindful of sad memories, not easily erased, in connection with the episcopate of our diocese, we are yet deeply thankful that the church in our midst is once more fully equipped in her threefold apostolic order.

To you, Reverend Father in God, we are committed high and holy duties; to us is given the privilege to pray God that His special blessing and guidance may be yours.

Though you, Reverend Father in God, are not unknown to many of us, we are truly sensible of the anxieties and regrets that mingle with the leaving of old friends and entering upon life's duties in new fields of labor. It will be our endeavor, and perhaps our privilege in some small degree, to make up to you for the friendships you have left.

Will you kindly convey to Mrs. Grisdale and Miss Grisdale a hearty welcome on our behalf, for the sure as we do, that our esteem and affection but await their coming among us?

Again, assuring you of our continued prayers that God the Father may grant you through the intercession of the Holy Spirit, the ever blessed presence of God the Holy Ghost to guide, strengthen and comfort you in all the manifold duties of your office as chief shepherd over the household of God, we beg to subscribe ourselves, with all dutiful regard,

Your faithful servants in Christ Jesus,
J. P. SARGENT, Vicar,
St. Peter's, Qu'Appelle Station
H. F. BOYCE,
F. E. PARKER,
Church Wardens.

His Lordship replied briefly, thanking all for the kind welcome given, and promising to give a longer reply at another time.

The procession then moved forward into the church singing the 122nd Psalm.

His Lordship kneeling upon the high altar facing the altar, then made aloud the following promise:

"I, John, Bishop of Qu'Appelle, do hereby promise to respect, maintain, and defend the rights, privileges and liberties of this church and diocese, to rule therein with truth, justice and charity—not lord-ing it over God's heritage, but showing myself in all things an example to the flock. So help me, God, Amen." The vicar enthroned, saying the benediction.

The Rev. J. P. Sargent, as vicar of the pro-cathedral and senior priest of the diocese, then enthroned the bishop, saying: "In the name of God, Amen. I, John Palmer, vicar of St. Peter's and senior priest of the diocese, enthroned thee Lord Bishop in this church of St. Peter's, and therewith give thee all possession, authority and jurisdiction which pertain to the bishop of this see, wherein may the Lord Jesus Christ preserve thy coming in from this time and for evermore; and mayst thou abide in justice and equity and adorn the place delegated to thee by God. God is mighty, and may He increase thy grace."

After the usual morning service his Lordship delivered an able sermon, which was listened to with close attention.

At the close of the service, the bishop, clergy and lay delegates were invited to partake of a bounteous spread prepared by the ladies in the town hall. After the wants of the inner man had been satisfied and thanks returned to the ladies, the members of the executive adjourned to the vestry and went into session to discuss matters of importance in connection with the diocese.

In the evening a general reception was given in the town hall, when light refreshments were served and the Bishop and Mrs.
Grisdale given an opportunity to become acquainted with our people.

A Quartette of Remedies that are Effecting Wonderful Cures.

Dr. Chase's four great remedies are:
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, Dr. Chase's Ointment, Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. His latest and greatest discovery for all throat and lung affections.

"I was sick for three years," says James Simpson, of Newcombe Mills. "I tried various alleged patent cures, and several boxes of a certain pill which has been greatly cracked up. I got no relief.
Then I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since I have been able to work every day and feel like a new man. Your pills alone cured me at a cost of 25¢."

"I have been subject to severe colds every fall and spring," says Miss Hattie Delaney, of 174 Crawford street, Toronto. "I used many other medicines, but none cured me until at a cost of 25 cents I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine."

"My husband was troubled with the worst kind of piles," writes Mrs. Jane Potts, of Meyersburg. "He was often unable to work. Since using your Chase's Ointment he is completely cured. It is truly worth its weight in gold instead of the price you charge, only 60 cents."
"I bought a box of your Catarrh Cure for 25 cents at Mr. Boyle's drug store," says Henry R. Nicholls, of 174 Rector street, London, Ont. "I am thankful to say it cured me."

recently ordained as Bishop of Qu'Appelle, Canada. Bishop Grisdale was born in Bolton, being the son of a wageworker, and early in his teens earned his own living as an errand boy in a local shop. He commenced his religious work as a teacher in the school attached to the parish church and subsequently entered the ministry.
Then he left this country for Manitoba, and years of industry and talent have been recognized by his elevation to the dignity of a prelate.

The Edgeley Farmers' Combine

To the Editor of THE PROGRESS.

Sir—I notice in your issue of Sept. 17th an article headed as above. Now, I think it quite contrary to the interests of any farming community to try and combine to crush the already over-burdened threshmen. How do the farmers around Edgeley expect a man to pay for his outfit and thresh at such ridiculously low prices as they propose, when some of those same farmers who are implicated in the combine could not pay for their machines when threshing at much higher prices, and had to wait them back again to the firm from which they came?

The Edgeley farmers speak boastfully of the quality of their threshing, but the threshermen are not so boastful of the quality of the Edgeley farmers', and I think if they would combine, and stay with it, as they say, for the prompt payment of their threshing accounts, that after a few years of such conduct they would be able to get their threshing done quite reasonably without holding any of their power.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

Qu'Appelle, Sept. 23.

The Concert.

Monday evening last our citizens had the pleasure of listening to a genuine treat, the occasion being a concert given by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Scott, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of Knox church. The hall was well filled considering the time of year when farmers are so busy harvesting. The audience was an appreciative one, applauding every number on the programme, which was long and fully tested the abilities of the singers. Mrs. Scott thought but a short time before the public as a professional has already won a reputation as a sweet singer, and in the duets was especially pleasing.

Mr. Scott is already well known over the West as a singer of great ability and also first-class entertainer. The two pieces of the evening which seemed to us to call for special praise were the "Highland Soldier's Dream" and the "Three Leaves of Shamrock," two beautiful songs, full of melody and pathos. "Huckleberry Joe," a humorous song, called forth round after round of applause so that Mr. Scott gave as an encore the "Baby on the Shore," which was followed by duets and solos of pathetic and amusing nature, but of which space will not permit detail. By request Mr. Scott also sang the "Admiral's Room," which was loudly applauded. The concert closed with "God Save the Queen." The organized was not in fit shape to accompany the singers properly, but under the skilful touch of Mr. Harsh, the accompanist, answered the purpose. The accompanist, answered the purpose. The accompanist, answered the

are so poor that it is impossible for singers to do themselves ex justice. A piano is badly needed for the hall, and we think it would pay to club together and purchase one. The receipts were satisfactory.

Lorlie Lippings.

A public meeting will be held at the school house tonight at 7 o'clock, to take into consideration the building of a suitable stable. This is a move in the right direction, as teams will need shelter during the winter. Although we may all be busy gathering in the hay and golden grain, all should try to be present.

Correspondents are kindly requested by the Butcher Boy to be regular and punctual in sending in their budgets. A few cents from each correspondent every week are highly appreciated, not only by the publisher but by those who live in your locality.

New-comers to the death of W. Bedford, Chatham, from heart failure. Deceased was drawing water for a threshing engine, apparently all right. A few minutes later one of the men discovered him lying dead. Deceased was 64 years of age.

When is the teaming to take place; and will it wind up with a dance? The Butcher Boy would like to have a look at it and swing the girl behind him.

schoolhouse, at 1 p.m., with Mr. T. Fallister

We expect to see the steam threshers separating the grain from the chaff in this locality next week.

BUTCHER BOY.

McPhee and Kiser.

McPhee & Kiser's big company when will give our performance in Qu'Appelle in their mammoth tent, on Tuesday, Sept. 29, and it is a novelty to most of our theatre goers as most of them have never seen a complete opera house under canvas, but owing to the large amount of scenery carried by this company it would be impossible to play in the small hall in the section of the country.
The company numbers forty people, traveling in their own cars with a fine band and orchestra. The company have just concluded a six weeks' engagement at Winnipeg where they played to crowded houses nightly. The Broadway sun, speaking of the company says, McPhee & Kiser's tented combination, arrived in town Tuesday morning and placed their mammoth tent on the lot near the old central school. In the evening they played "Enchanted," or "Kismet from His Ashes," to a full house, over 1000 people being present. The performance throughout was loudly applauded, each member of the company ably ensuring their parts. The trapeze work between

BY RAIL, SEAN LAKE, WAGHORN'S GUIDE.

the acts and other specialties were much appreciated, while the revolving ball feats of Mrs. McPhee, and swinging acts, were cleverly performed. A first-class brass band and orchestra accompanies the show, which is a departure from the average dramatic troupes. On Wednesday night the company closed their engagement playing the "Great Diamond Robbery" to a large audience, which must have been encouraging to the management. They went west this (Thursday) morning and will show at all the principal points on the line, returning in about a month on their way south, when they will likely stop off and play a night. The tent is quite comfortable and not as cool as would be imagined for this time of year.

Would They Act?

Gladstone threatens to re-enter the arena long enough to address a great mass meeting at Liverpool in favor of the decapitation of "the assassin who sits upon a throne"— the expressive title by which he denounces the present Sultan of Turkey. The grand old man of Britain, at the age of 86, pleading for the down-trodden Christians of Armenia, would be a picturesque and impressive sight. But would it move the powers to action, while they are so jealous and suspicious of each other?—London Advertiser.

A Graceful Act.

"Hon. Wm. Paterson has done a kind and graceful act in handing over his sessional allowance to the widow of Mr. Clarke, the Liberal candidate for North Grey, who was successful at the general election, but who died so suddenly immediately afterwards. It may seem a small thing, but it is what a selfish man would not have thought of."—Ottawa Citizen.

Football club wish (through the ment played last 4th July on the ardson ruled this morning that preliminary objections in the Davin time and are, therefore, void. Mr.

might appeal in which case the hearing of the protest is indefinitely postponed.

RHEUMATISM

Its Cause and Cure.

A poisonous Acid in the Blood, which needs removal.

Only one means for a radical cure.

Rheumatism is a blood disease, due to the presence of uric acid—a poison—in the system, and it is only by the removal of this pain-producing poison, that a radical cure can be effected. Acute rheumatism is hereditary, and thus it is that young children are often victims to this torture. The use of liniment, em-brocations and outward applications, may give temporary relief, but can never cure, for the poison is in the blood, and until it is expelled, rheumatism, sciatica and neuralgia pains will continue.

Scott's Sarsaparilla cures rheumatism by removing the cause—by neutralizing and expelling this poisonous acid. In chronic cases, this medicine reaches the source of the disease as no other medicine can.
It gives renewed energy to the organs

The guards on charge at the time were summarily dismissed. The feeling in the county at the time of the trial was that justice had miscarried and that Wilson was perfectly sane and his behavior since his incarceration supports this theory.

The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Brantford express was wrecked the other day a few miles from Hunter street station, a short distance from the western limits of Hamilton. The engine, tender and front trucks of the baggage car jumped the siding switch and ran along on the main line on the ties, the engine and tender falling on their side into the ditch. The engineer, James Facer, and his fireman, Geo. Johnson, were instantly killed. The passengers escaped with a few bruises. Another train was at once made up and the passengers were at once sent on their way.

A new steamer recently arrived at Fort William, the Rosemount. The boat is on her maiden trip, having been recently built on Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and sailed to Montreal. She had to be cut in two to pass through the lower channels, when she was towed to Kingston and put together in the dry dock there. The Rosemount is a handsome looking steel clad boat, fitted out with all the latest improved appliances, and is captained by Mr. Archie McManch. She is 350 feet in length, and took her first cargo from the Fort William elevators, which was 65,000 bushels of wheat.

The corner stone of the Masonic Temple, now being erected in Grenfell by Evening Star lodge, A. F. & A. M., at a cost of over $5,000, was laid in accordance with the ancient usages of the craft by D. S. Grand Master Hamilton Lang, acting as grand master of the grand lodge of Manitoba and assisted by the acting grand officer and a large number of brethren. Music was furnished by the Grenfell brass band, and a large number of citizens turned out to witness the ceremony. A Masonic dinner was held in the evening. Col. ELECTRIC TRACTION.

Electric Power to be Used on the Erie Canal in the Near Future.

The New York World says the negotiations for the sale of the Erie canal electric franchise to an English syndicate will result in the installation of a complete system of electric traction within a short time. What has interested English capital in this enterprise is the possibility of shipping grain from the Northwest direct to Liverpool, by an all water route and effecting a great saving in time and freight charges. Only one transfer will be required, and that will be in New York harbor, without necessity of elevator storage. The saving will not only be in the higher freight charges, if the grain is brought to New York by rail, but on the old water route of elevator charges at Buffalo and slow haulage by mules through the canal, with more elevator charges at this port.

The use of electricity to run canal boats is but part of the extensive plan to cheapen rates from the west to the east and then to Europe. It contemplates a direct service from Chicago to Duluth by the use of steel boats after the type of the six that were built last year in Cleveland, and made one trip to New York. With the aid of floating elevators the canal boats can be unloaded into ocean steamers in the harbor, without the necessity of storage. This was the plan that New York capitalists had in mind when they secured a gift of the franchise that Englishmen are to pay $3,000,000 for. They did not get very far along before they met the all powerful opposition of the New York Central Railroad company, and the allied trunk lines, that monopolize the traffic into New York, and have been steadily ruining the canal business. A few figures tell the story: In 1885, the canal carried 50,000,000 bushels of wheat from Buffalo to New York; last year it carried only 14,000,000.

A DROP OF FORTY FEET.

Through a Defective Bridge a Passenger Train is Thrown Into the River.

Four persons were killed and sixteen seriously injured as a result of a wreck on the Ararat and Mad River Railroad, about five miles north of Ararat, Cal., the other evening. The dead are: Miss Annie Holland, of Riverside; Miss Kirkman, of Blue Lake; Fanny Gregory, of Eureka; Sandy Cameron, brakeman. Among the injured were the two Misses Zentare, nieces of Korbel Bros., of San Francisco, owners of the railroad on which the accident occurred, and Mrs. Fodory and child, of Eureka, both in a critical condition and may die. The accident occurred to the passenger train, consisting of an engine and two cars, which connected at Ararat wharf with the company's ferry boat Alfa, leaving there at 7:30 p. m., bound for K. rebel, the terminus of the road, twelve miles above Ararat. The scene of the accident was the company's bridge across the Mad River, about half way between Ararat and Korbel. The train had run out on the first span of the bridge, when, without warning, the stringers gave way, letting the whole train drop forty feet to the gravel bed of the river, where the engines were smashed. The engine and cars did not pile up or telescope but all dropped together. In the coaches were between thirty and forty passengers, all of whom with the exception of one man who jumped from the rear platform, went down with the train. This fortunate man was Louis Everding. The others were injured and ten or twelve fearfully mangled.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

IS THE TRUTH CONCERNING JOHN GIBBONS, OF EAST LONDON.

He Was Tortured With the Pains of Rheumatic Rheumatism—Tried Doctors, all Sorts of Medicine and Went to the Hospital in Vain—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him When All Else Had Failed.

From the London Advertiser.

There are two things in this world which Mr. John Gibbons, a resident of Queen's Avenue East, will henceforth place implicit confidence in. One is the judgment of his wife and the other the curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In his case the two went hand in hand. Mrs. Gibbons thought of the remedy, the pills did the rest, and to-day Mr. Gibbons is a well man where last fall he was virtually a cripple. An Advertiser reporter called at the house the other evening and was met at the door by Mr. Gibbons, to whom he told the object of his visit, and was cordially invited in. The reporter had no sooner got comfortably seated when Mr. Gibbons went into an adjoining room. The sound of clinking bottles floated through the half open door and when Mr. Gibbons reappeared he had in his arms a whole basket of bottles—all he has to show for many and many a hard earned dollar spent in useless drugs. As Mr. Gibbons was busy showing the bottles and despatching upon the impotency of the medicines they had contained, the reporter had abundant opportunity of marking the personal appearance of the man. His speech betrays his English birth, and his face still bears the marks of suffering, but his frame is erect, his step is light and elastic, and when he tells you that he can work, run or jump with any man, you cannot help but believe him. He is 29 years of age and was born in Bow Road, Stratford, England. He came to Canada in 1882 and located at Galt, where he is well and favorably known. He worked for the Hon. Mr. Young, member of parliament, for a long time and seven years ago he married Miss Alice Mann, also of Galt. After Mr. Gibbons removed to London he settled down near the car shops and did very well, always having plenty of work and always having the strength to do it. He cared nothing about a wetting until one day a year ago he took an acute attack of sciatic rheumatism following wet feet. "I lay down on this floor," said Mr. Gibbons, in telling his story, "night and day suffering terrible agony. I could not get up a step and my wife had to help me up from the floor. I felt the pain in my back first. It then apparently left my back and got into my hips. Doctors came here to see me. They gave me prescriptions but none of them seemed to do me any good. The neighbors would hear me all over Queen's Avenue, when I would get an attack of the pains. Last fall I was taken out of this place in a cab and driven to the hospital. I remained there about three weeks and the doctors did what they could for me but could not give me any relief. At the end of three weeks I came home again suffering as much as ever. My wife got hold of a pamphlet which told of a number of remarkable cures by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we determined to try them. I took about three boxes and felt myself getting a little easier. I took thirteen boxes altogether, and it is over two months since I felt the least suggestion of pain." "Do you feel that you are entirely cured?" asked the reporter. "Yes, sir, I can go out and do a day's work just as well as ever I could. I feel perfectly strong and have a good appetite." "No, I don't want another attack of sickness like that," said Mr. Gibbons, as he lighted the reporter to the door.

Mrs. Gibbons was not at home on the occasion of the reporter's first visit. Subsequently he called on her and received an entire confirmation of Mr. Gibbons' story. "He was home all last summer," said Mrs. Gibbons, "and last August the pains were so severe as to bring him down on his knees, and to save himself he could not get up. I had to lift him off the floor many a time. He seemed powerless. The bottles he showed you had almost all of them been repeatedly filled, so that the number of bottles is no criterion of the amount of medicine taken. Before he took the pills," concluded Mrs. Gibbons, "I thought my husband would never be able to stand upright again. But now," she added in parting, "he is as well as ever he was."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines had failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing every pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

Three Million Dollars.

The New York World says: "Chilton T. Lewis, secretary and treasurer of the Cataract General Electric Co., called for London the other day to meet William Mertens, president of the company. The negotiations that have been in progress for several months will be finished and papers signed for the sale of the Erie Canal Traction company to an English syndicate for $3,000,000. This $3,000,000 represents the value of a state franchise which did not cost one cent. The leading men in the company are William Mertens, of Van Hoffman & Co., Wall street brokers, C. E. T. Lewis, of the Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Thomas C. Platt, Commodore P. Vedder and Frank H. Hawley.

The Three Great South American Remedies Always Cure—Mrs. Edward Purrr, of Surrey Centre, B. C. Once Paralyzed on One Side, is now "As Well as Ever" Because of South American Nerve-W. W. Brownell, of Avonmore, Ont. Thought he Would Die From Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Cured by South American Kidney Cure—South American Kidney Cure the Only Specific for Worst Forms of Kidney Disease.

To do all that one undertakes to do is commendable in these days of broken promises. The application is apt in the case of proprietary medicines. In the three Great South American Remedies, however, are found specifics that square up to every claim and promise.

The wife of Edward Purrr, of Surrey Centre, B. C., was taken bad last August with nervous prostration, which later developed into paralysis of one side. Her husband writes: "She tried many remedies, but only in vain. South American Nerveine was recommended, and I am glad to say the result, after taking three bottles, was astonishing to myself and family. We believe it worked a wonder for Mrs. Purrr, and we cannot speak too highly of the remedy."

As an aftermath from an attack of typhoid fever W. W. Brownell of Avonmore, Ont., became a victim of most painful rheumatism and neuralgia. He called in the best medical aid, but got no relief. His words are: "I thought I must die and many nights thought I could not live till morning, the pain was so severe. The doctors said I must go to the springs, but I secured a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. E. H. Brown, druggist, of Cornwall. The first dose gave me relief, and after taking two and a half bottles the pain all left me and now I am as well as ever."

There is no experiment in the use of South American Kidney Cure. It is not a pill or powder, but a liquid, that immediately dissolves the hard stone like substances that constitute kidney disease, and drive this it becomes an absolute cure. D. J. Locke, of Sherman, Ont., says he spent $100 in treatment for a complicated case of kidney disease, but received no permanent cure until, to use his own words: "I began to use South American Kidney Cure, when four bottles completely cured me."

McAdam has been but recently married, and his wife returned but a few days ago from a visit to Ontario.

HIGH CLASS TEA.

Nothing of late years seems to have escaped the craze for cheapness at the sacrifice of Real Quality. Tea has been singled out as fair game for the onslaught of advertisers who have vied with each other to deprave the taste of the public by appealing to their pockets at the expense of their palates. The public, unmolested with the rubbish that has been so persistently forced upon them, have hailed with gratitude the advent of the MAZAWATTEE TEA.

ITEMS SHORT AND INTERESTING.

A Resume of the Events of the Week—Saying and Things.

It is said that Trail, B. C., is a poor place for mechanics.

The country west of the Athabasca river is badly burnt out.

It is expected that the railway through the Crow's Nest Pass will soon be built.

110 ounces of gold were taken from 25 tons of rock from the Mikado mine recently.

Chas. Frank died near Gladstone recently, through, it is supposed, the kick of a horse.

Work at the C. P. R. shops, Winnipeg, is very plentiful. Over 400 men are at work full time.

Hope John Macdonald, M. P. for Winnipeg, recently visited the grave of his father at Kingston.

Woods of Winnipeg, beat Moosewa, of Edmonton in 100 and 75 yard foot races at Vancouver, B. C.

Mr. John F. McConnell, the champion checker player of Rat Portage, Keewatin and Norman, has been married.

The Hon. Joe. Martin, the defeated candidate in Winnipeg, has become interested in a gold mine near Roseland, B. C.

Mines on the McLeod river have done well. Phillip Gray made $218 in one week of 24 days and $100.50 in another of twelve days.

The Rainy River rapids are to be improved. The Rat Portage board of trade has received word that an amount has been placed in the Dominion government estimate for the work.

Steps are being taken by the Northwest members to compel the C. P. R. to select their lands in order that the company may not be permitted to avoid paying taxes longer than is contemplated by the charter.

The Winnipeg city council is entering action against the C. P. R. and Winnipeg Electric Railway. The suit against the former is for school taxes and against the latter for not carrying out their agreement with the city.

Flames and Vermilion are two townsites on the new Dominion railroad. The latter is situated on the Vermilion river about midway between the present villages of Dauphin and Garmouth. It is expected that the business men of the two places will move to the new sites.

Brokers in Victoria and Vancouver say that sheep can be bought freely at Portland, Oregon, for 75c to $1.00 per head, and a certain of 200 there can be landed at Victoria from there at a cost of about $1.00 for freight, so that Oregon farmers cannot at present make fortunes in sheep.

Samuel Favel, aged 81 years, died recently at Port Saskatchewan. Mr. Favel was a member of the Franklin search expedition under Dr. Jno. Kane and accompanied that gentleman on what was probably the longest snow shoe tramp on record from the Mackenzie river to Manitoba in the depth of a severe winter. Like many other pioneers of western civilization his declining years have been passed in comparative hardships.

Joseph Barthelemy, who had the contract for some pub work under the Northwest Territories government last year, was arrested at the instance of the Dominion police at St. Genevieve, Champlain county, and is now on the way to Regina in charge of officers. It appears Barthelemy obtained some $300 from the Northwest government without performing the work, the payment having been made in November last on false certificates. After securing the money he cleared out and since that time the Dominion police have been trying to run him down.

THE PALACE OF PROGRESS.

The Latest Addition to the Paris Exhibition is a Revolving Tower.

France built the Eiffel tower and turned up her nose at the world. England's retort was to lay the foundation of the Wembley Park tower, a solid, stupid rotund, for even if the new tower is a few feet higher, it will have more indication of the French original.

America's reply to the Eiffel tower was the Ferris wheel. "Anybody," said America "can pile steel beams one upon another. It is only a shade more intelligent an undertaking than heaping stones upon stones. But we have put up a structure as big as your tower and it goes round, instead of standing still."

France stopped to think. England, too, hesitated enough, built a wheel of steel bigger than yours, and further different from the fact that it sometimes looks as if it were going round, and leaves perpetual parties of merry makers to spend a night in the air. All of this is about story. But now we discover what France has been thinking a out, and that is quite a new story. "Your wheel that goes round," says France "is not that good a thing. It is only fit to a country circus. What do you say to a real big building that spins slowly like a majestic top? You sit in a grand hall, under noble arches surrounded by stately palms and festoons of flowers, and while you eat your dinner and drink your coffee and talk to your neighbor and hear the band play, you look out of the big windows at a city that seems to move beneath your feet like the cloth of a gigantic panorama."

The inventor is M. Deric, and he calls his tower the "Palace of Progress." The extraordinary sort of structure is shown in the architect's prospective drawing. The outer room of the building will move at the rate of 1 1/2 meters or about three feet eight inches per second, which is as nearly as possible to two and one half miles an hour. A complete revolution will thus occupy about two minutes, and the views of Paris and the hills and plains of the Seine and Marne country will change as rapidly as the scenery along a road. The rotatory building will be only half the height of the Eiffel tower, but as it is to be erected near the summit of Montmartre, it will command a broad view, not only by the tower of the new church on the apex.

The bearings are said by the mechanical engineers who have prepared the specifications to be so designed as to absolutely assure the absence of all sense of motion. When you are not looking out at the view you will be as tranquil as in any other building, but when you swing your chair so that you face the window you enjoy a serene motion and contemplate a constantly changing spectacle.

The motive power which will supply the force necessary to turn the structure will be hydraulic, and its cost has been calculated to be only $7.12 francs per hour, although each time that the movement is checked the hydraulic pressure needed to give it new impulse will represent an expenditure of 282.80 francs. Kozler, the caterer and refreshment contractor, who has made a fortune out of buffet concessions at all the race courses in the neighborhood of Paris, is the largest shareholder in the enterprise; and Marchand, manager of the folies Bergeres, and of two or three other less important variety halls, has underwritten a large block of stock, and will control the music and the vaudeville attractions, which are relied upon to assist in drawing pleasure loving Paris to the vortex of delights. The upper part of the building will be occupied by a public hall, to be open from 11 o'clock in the evening until 2 in the morning, and the place immediately below this for an artificial ice skating rink, so that the allurements of the Palace de Glace on the Pole Nord will be added to those of the Moulin Rouge and the Casino de Paris.

RUN DOWN AT LAST.

"Number One," the instigator of the Phoenix Park Murders, is Captured.

Tynan, the notorious "Number One" has been arrested at Boulogne, France, on a Scotland Yard warrant, which was issued in 1882. Tynan arrived in Europe by landing in Genoa in August. He proceeded from there to Paris, where he remained for some days, consorting with a number of the members of the dynamite faction of the Irish party. He has been travelling under the name of Geo. Gordon, and other aliases. When he arrived in Boulogne he put up at the Hotel Folkestone, where he did not hesitate to expound his Fenian views in the bar of the hotel. His movements have been watched from the time he arrived on French territory. The local commissary of police, together with an English detective, burst into his room at 1 o'clock in the morning. The detective held a loaded revolver to his head, and threatened to shoot him if he resisted. Tynan was seised and admitted his identity. Incriminating papers and a large sum of money were found in his possession. The prisoner was lodged in a cell in the Boulogne police station and will be striven with a view to his extradition to England. The warrant on which the arrest is made charges that the prisoner was concerned in the murders of Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary, and Mr. Burke, under secretary, in Phoenix Park, Dublin, on May 8th, 1882, and with the manufacture of dynamite bombs for use in England. Det. chief Inspector Walsh has arrived at Boulogne from Scotland Yard to conduct the case. He said that there would be some connection between Tynan and the arrest of a man named Bell, at Glasgow, and of J. Wallace at Rotterdam.

The London Standard has an editorial based on a dispatch from its correspondent at Boulogne in which it expresses the belief that Tynan, when arrested, was preparing for further dynamite operations in England.

Tynan had not suspected that his identity was known and he was astounded at the entry of the detective, commissary and four officers. Tynan had shaved his beard. He seems to be depressed over his capture.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

Two Bodies Found in a Burned Building at Moncton, N. B.

Moncton, N. B., is greatly excited over the finding of the bodies of a woman named Ditcher and her son, in the ruins of a building destroyed by fire at Meadow Brook, a settlement twelve miles from Moncton. Later a little daughter was found unconscious, and it is supposed that the other two were murdered. It is reported that a young man was seen around the premises, and it is known that the deceased had money in his house.

A Halifax, N. S., special to the Boston Journal says: Shortly after midnight the other night, a horrible double murder and arson were committed at Meadow Brook, a small station on the Intercolonial railway, about eight miles from the town of Moncton, in New Brunswick. Mrs. Eliza Ditcher and her eleven-year-old boy were murdered, the house afterwards fired and the bodies cremated. Maggie, Mrs. Ditcher's eight-year-old daughter, was rescued from the burning building, and she is not expected to live. The girl's left ear is split open and her left cheek cut and smashed, presenting a horrible sight. It was the girl's rescue that revealed the terrible nature of the crime, and showed that the fire was not accidental. A brother of the murdered woman, who lived near by, says that he was awakened by cries of fire. He dressed and went into the street, and found his sister's house on fire. He tried to effect an entrance but found the doors all locked. He finally got in and groping his way through the smoke, managed to find Maggie, and carried her out. The murdered woman was known to have kept considerable money in her house, and this may have been the motive. That the woman and her son were foully murdered, and at attempt also made to kill the girl Maggie, there is not the least doubt. Great excitement prevails in the locality.

Robbed the Countess.

The charge of theft of jewelry brought against Signor Luigi Crispi, a lawyer, and a natural son of the former premier of Italy, is creating a sensation. It appears the lawyer had an intrigue with Countess Collare and had a latch key to her house. In April, 1896, jewelry valued at about $3,000 (fr. 40,000), was stolen from the apartments of the countess. Suspicion pointed to the lawyer but the police refused to prosecute him. He afterwards threatened to bring legal proceedings against the countess, claiming she had stolen the jewelry. The charge against Crispi is now revived and is being investigated. The alleged political ally of the ex-premier who the charges were first made, offered to recoup the countess for the loss, admitting that young Crispi was a kleptomaniac. The lawyer is now at Buenos Ayres.

WILL ACT ALONE IN NECESSARY.

Great Britain Will Take the Initiative in Deposing the Sultan.

The dominant note of the moment is that the time to take action in regard to Turkey has arrived, as the deposition of the sultan is openly talked of in English quarters where hitherto the slightest intimation of Turkish authority has been viewed with disfavour. Everywhere on the continent, in Great Britain, and in Constantinople itself, plans are being discussed to supersede the sultan and there is no doubt that Great Britain will be a leading spirit in the movement. She is even prepared to act alone if the powers are too slow to co-operate with her. There is no fear, it is said, that so soon as the British fleet clears its action, the fleets of the other powers will follow the example, if for no other reason than the apprehension that some one of them will gain a point of vantage in the long-looked for settlement of the affairs of the Turkish empire. Apart from the violent agitation against the action of the sultan, the protest from all classes in Great Britain, resulting in the summoning of mass meetings in all parts of the country which are apparently fomented with the object of strengthening the hand of the Marquis of Salisbury, and the bestowal of the order of the Bath on Mr. Michael Herbert, who acted as British charge d'affaires at Constantinople during the absence of the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie. There are other indications that both the Queen and the Marquis of Salisbury approve of Mr. Herbert's aggressive action during the carnage at the Turkish capital. Probably the best indication that the British premier has got the bit in his teeth is found in the outspoken editorials of the Conservative press, evidently inspired from high quarters, demanding a change in the occupancy of the throne of the Turkish empire. Mr. Henry Asquith, who was home secretary in Lord Roseberry's cabinet, was the first Liberal to note the handwriting on the wall and he seized upon the letter published in the Chronicle a few days ago. While Mr. Asquith's letter was probably intended to show the Marquis of Salisbury that he can count upon Liberal support, it has also enabled Mr. Asquith to be the instigator of aggressive action. The consensus of opinion seems to be that the method of change should be left to the Turks themselves. As there is no doubt that the working chiefs of the army, government officers and church, if once convinced that Europe insist upon a change, will co-operate with them, they know from experience exactly how to do it. Carrying out the idea the Spectator points out that the Turks of the better class have strong reason for disliking Abdul Hamid, whose rule has been marked by the loss of much territory, crippled finances and oppressive taxation. In any case definite action upon the part of the powers is expected at any moment and in the meantime the ships of the different nations most interested are verging towards Constantinople ready to back up the decision which will be arrived at by the six powers.

LOVE CONQUERED.

A Young Woman Carries Off Her Lover Despite all Protests.

The facts of a rather unusual marriage, in which the bride seems to be one of the very newest of the new women, have just leaked out in Morristown, N. J. This time it was the bride who drove up to the home of the prospective groom in a closed carriage and rode away with him to a minister, by whom they were quickly married before the groom's stern parent could object.

Julian Slaughter is the man in the case. He is about 35 years old, and has been ill with heart trouble for five or six years. About a year ago he was well enough to go to the races at Sheepshead Bay, and while there he met and fell in love with Miss Anna Pickering of Bridgeport. She is well to do in her own right. The falling of interest was mutual and in a short time they found themselves head over heels in love.

Young Slaughter told his father, Theo. J. Slaughter, who is a wealthy rose grower, that he might shortly be invited to a wedding, but the old man frowned on the suggestion. He is said to have been pleased with the girl, but did not want his son to marry on account of his illness.

Miss Pickering understood she was to become the wife of the young man, but got tired of the wait she was having. She decided the other day to bring the question to a climax. Young Slaughter and his father had been staying at the Hotel Breitt, Lake Hopatcong, during the summer. She went there but could not see the young man, as he was confined to his room. The idea of being so near and yet so far from him made her unhappy and she made a sudden and desperate resolution.

The season at the hotel closed and all the guests went away. The young man was taken to his room to come in Monday. Miss Pickering went to live in a hotel at Chatham, which is only a short distance away. She learned that the elder Slaughter was in the habit of going to New York about three days in the week to attend to business. One day after he had started for the city she drove over from Chatham in a hired carriage and stopped at the handsome home of the Slaughters.

Miss Pickering sent word up to the young man that she wanted him to come along. In a few moments two men carried him out of the house and down to the carriage, in which he was placed. The driver then took them to Chatham. Arriving there the Rev. William M. Pickley, with whom the young man had previously made arrangements, performed the ceremony.

One of the witnesses was the minister's stable boy.

From the minister's house the couple were taken to the private boarding house of Mrs. Alonzo Parry, in Chatham. They are there now, and Mrs. Slaughter says that her husband's heart has improved much in the last few days.

Boysed up by Bloomers.

Thousands of people crowding along the Chicago river in the vicinity of the Rush street bridge one evening recently saw Louise Olson, a 15 year old girl, rescued from what seemed to be certain death, says a Chicago exchange. Miss Olson, who is about 24 years of age, had been taking a ride on her bicycle in Lincoln park, and was returning to the South side. Just as she started to cross the bridge it swung open to give passage to the Christopher Columbus, heavily crowded with excursionists returning from a day in Milwaukee. Warning was given to pedestrians and bicyclists on the bridge by the officer stationed at its south end, but Miss Olson rode on at full speed. When she reached the bridge it was almost entirely open. Her wheel struck the raised end used as a sidewalk, and she went into the air. Two men standing near grabbed her wheel but Miss Olson continued in her flight, and in the murky waters of the Chicago river. Borne up by her bloomers she floated on top of the water until one of the boatmen on the Columbus reached over with a boat hook, and catching the young woman in the strong part of her bloomers, hauled her aboard. The rescue was greeted with great cheers from the people on the boat and along the shore. Then Miss Olson fainted. She was soon revived however, and taken home by friends.

THE MAGNET IS GOLD.

An Interesting Description of an Almost Unknown Region.

Few intrepid explorers have brought back to civilization more interesting descriptions of the unknown wilds than that told by J. Murdoch, who is registered at the Occidental hotel. Mr. Murdoch does not hail from Darkest Africa, nor was he a member of Dr. Nansen's party. He came from a district nearer home, but still a district of which little is known, and which has seldom been visited by a white man. Since leaving Victoria some three years ago, Mr. Murdoch and two companions have explored those frozen wilds from which the waters of the Findlay river rise to enter the still colder Arctic ocean. He has enjoyed the trip too, and after transacting some business will leave again for that northern region. Neither the climate nor the fertility of the soil in that district would induce Mr. Murdoch to isolate himself for the snow stays on the ground until July and the greater portion of the country is nothing but mountains—and rocky mountains at that. The magnet which attracts is gold. The three years have been spent in mining and prospecting, and while Mr. Murdoch and his party have discovered nothing wonderfully rich, they have washed from the banks of the Findlay and those of its tributaries as high as $50 each per day.

They spent their winters at Fort Graham, the Hudson's Bay Co.'s trading post on the Findlay river. In the spring of '94 they canoed up the Findlay river for 200 miles above Fort Graham. The Findlay is a very swift running stream, and can only be ascended in the spring before the snow begins to melt or late in the fall after the waters subside. After reaching a point where the canoes could no longer be used, they walked along the south fork of the Findlay, and found out that the map makers were in error. On all provincial maps this fork of the river is shown as coming from Tintage lake, apparently a large body of water. They found no lake there at all, but were told by the Indians that the north fork came from such a lake. The hardy adventurers then struck out across the divide until the head waters of the Skeena were reached. Fine gold was found in all the streams, and the country gave indications of being rich in minerals. The trip across the country was made on snowshoes, and it was June 27 before the headwaters of the Findlay were left. It gives one a good idea of the lateness of the season.

"Never before did I see such a country for game," said Mr. Murdoch. "It is a veritable sportsman's paradise. Above the snow line, which is almost the whole of the district, are innumerable lakes, and the valleys are filled with moose and caribou. If the sportsmen who came to British Columbia only know of this glorious country for big game they would leave all the hardship of travel to get in there."

While the indications for gold along the Findlay and its tributaries are the brightest, Mr. Murdoch says that it is an excellent country for a man without money to keep away from. The severity of the winters, the lack of trails, and consequent difficulties of getting in supplies and the very high cost of living makes it a country for men of some means only. On the lower Findlay some mining has been done, and nine white men will remain there this winter. The only place where supplies can be procured is at Fort Graham, and as they have to be packed between Lake Babine and the Findlay river before they reach there, the cost is necessarily high.

Mr. Murdoch, while in Victoria, will interview the government with the object of securing some assistance to build a trail from Hazelton in the Skeena to the headquarters of the Findlay. The distance is not so very great, and the country through the trail will be sure to become a popular district for prospectors—Victoria Times.

Twins of Different Color.

Two robust and bright twin baby boys are additions to the Gibbert family of Michigan City. There would be nothing beyond the ordinary in this occurrence were it not for the fact that one twin is white and the other is black. The mother is white and the father is a typical negro. The strangest feature connected with the birth of these rarities, for the Gibbert babies are said to be the second pair of twins born in the United States opposite in color, is that the child which is black was born with a white skin. The coloring process did not develop until two days after birth, when the child's body began to turn black. The white twin is not unlike his black brother in facial features. The white babe has the flat, broadened nose, curly hair and thick, protruding lips, and were it not for the color there would be no distinguishing features. The mother is a comely woman of forty years, and has raised a large family of children, but the twins are the first rarities to make their advent. The other Gibbert children are as black as coal, and the white babe is to them an object of great curiosity as well as solicitude to the parents, who regard the white twin as a special gift from God to them. Hundreds of people have visited the Gibbert babies in their home, the white twin receiving the greatest attention. Physicians are at a loss to explain the conditions which contributed to the birth of the white child, and this is said to be the second case of a similar character reported to the medical profession. Mr. Gibbert has received several offers to exhibit the freaks in dime museums, but has refused all offers. He is an educated negro of the pronounced African type.

A NEW SEMAPHORE.

Orders are Now Delivered to Trainmen While Going at 50 Miles an Hour.

By a new system just put in operation by the Erie railroad trainmen now receive orders while on the road without stopping the train, as has always been customary in the past, says the New York Herald. As the train dashes along at lightning speed there is expectancy and wonder among the train's crew as to whether or not they can catch the suspended order bag or whether they will miss one and be obliged to slow down and back up for it, as in the old days. This service is a semaphore, which consists of an upright post, set beside the track. At a height equal to that of the cab window, are placed two arms, about two feet apart, which when the semaphore is set with orders, extend towards the track. A sack containing the order, enclosed in a waterproof envelope, is suspended between the arms. A signal to the engineer indicates that there are orders for him in the arms of the semaphore. At night lights indicate the same thing.

As the engine passes the semaphore the arms are extended at right angles to the upright post, with the bag containing the orders for the engineer between them. If at night it shows a red light on both sides as the engine passes at no matter what rate of speed, the engineer reaches out his arm and catches the bag, which is instantly released by the arms. As the conductor also receives his orders at the same time as the engineer, a second bag containing the orders for the conductor is suspended above the bag for the engineer, and when the latter seizes the bag intended for him the arms of the semaphore automatically move to a diagonal position, showing a green light at night, and the conductor knows that there are orders for him. If, when the train has passed, the arms of the semaphore drop to a vertical position, or, if at night time, white lights are shown, the engineer knows that both he and the conductor have received their orders, and the speed of the train is continued.

The sacks containing the orders are attached to the arms by elastic bands, which, while they serve to hold them in place, offer no resistance to the hand of the engineer or conductor. A bull's eye in the side of the signal light throws light upon the sacks at night. Recent tests have shown that orders can be taken in this way with perfect safety by trainmen on trains moving at a speed of fifty miles an hour. It is impossible to attach the sacks to the arms of the semaphore in any position except the right one, and hence the danger to the trainmen is avoided. Thus far, only what are known as "19 orders" or, in other words, orders which it is not necessary for the trainmen to sign, have been delivered to Erie trainmen by this system, and other roads are seriously considering the advisability of adopting the plan.

THE CUBANS SCORE ONE.

They Attack a Train Carrying Spanish Soldiers and Kill 100 of Them.

A train carrying troops from Havana who recently arrived from Spain going by way of Guanajay, was attacked near that place by insurgents and destroyed. The loss to the Spaniards was 100 killed by the bullets of the attacking party. This news was received from Dr. Charles Feal, captain in the insurgent army, who recently passed through Key West, Fla., direct from the insurgent camp on the way to New York.

Dr. Leopold Ferri, the oldest professor in the law university of Havana, and Dr. Juan Francisco, of Artil, professor of the same university and the judge of the supreme court of Havana, have been arrested on suspicion of being in sympathy with the insurgents and conspiring against the government.

Dr. Joaquin Castillo and party of five arrived at Key West in a small boat the other evening. They were detained by the health officer and upon the affidavit of Dr. Castillo were released. Dr. Castillo made an affidavit before the collector of customs. The party was from Cape Sable, having been at that place several days trying to do something for the Cuban cause in which they were unsuccessful. Just before the party landed a tug was seen to appear from the gulf and again return. The tug is supposed to have been their friends, as several parties which arrived the next day are known to have been on her former filibustering cruise. It is here she succeeded in landing a large expedition to Cuba.

A GOLDEN BRICK.

Thirty-one and a Half Pounds of Gold From 114 Tons of Mikado Ore.

Thirty-one and a half pounds of gold were lodged in the Imperial bank of Rat Portage, the other day by Mr. A. M. Superintendent of the Mikado mine, as a result of a first run of ore from that property supplemented by contributions from the Golden Gate. The town is much excited over the gold obtained from the Mikado ores. One hundred and fourteen tons of rock were put through the local reduction works from the Mikado and seven thousand dollars worth of gold is the startling result. This is unprecedented and will cause much excitement in London, England, where the property is owned. Sir Rodrick Cameron and party, of New York, together with Mr. Savage, president of the board of trade, and Mr. and Mrs. Mather, were present in the works when the last brick was run. The gold is on view at the Imperial bank, and citizens are crowding in to see the realization of their fondest hopes.

The experts say that the results obtained only represent sixty five per cent of the gold actually in the ore, the rest remains as concentrates to be chemically treated. Word has just been received that a new lead has been struck at the Sultana. Mr. J. F. Caldwell, proprietor of the mine, positively declares that one million dollars worth of ore is now in sight.

Holding for Higher Prices.

The wool growers of the Northwest are still holding a large portion of this year's clip in the hope of obtaining higher prices. It is estimated that there are a quarter of a million pounds yet to be marketed. Prices this year have been but little more than half what they were last, and the growers are not disposed to sell their stocks at such low figures. However, there is nothing in the condition of the market to encourage them in their waiting policy, as there seems to be a general depression in the wool trade, doubtless owing to political conditions in the States, which are affecting the manufacturers. One Northwest grower, hoping to do better than he could by selling to Canadian buyers, shipped a large quantity of wool to Chicago, but he was compelled to sell for less than he was offered in the home market.

Why the Schooner was Seized.

The sealing schooner Aurora, Capt. Thos. Brown, arrived at Victoria B. C. the other day from Bering Sea where she was seized by U. S. revenue cutter Rush, on August 10, for having on board three skins, bearing the supposed marks of a charge from a shot gun. These pelts had been kept separate from the others secured by the sealer and when the schooner was overhauled Capt. Brown drew special attention to them. He was unfortunate however in not having landed all his guns and ammunition at Atun before his entering the sea, thus avoiding suspicion. Had he done this optional formality there could have been no excuse for seizure for Capt. Brown firmly contends that the holes in the skins were made by a spear. After the seizure a prize crew was placed aboard the Aurora and she was sent to Oronokal. Her story reported to H. M. S. Icarus and was ordered home.

A Dominion Exhibition.

All over Canada, to-day and to-morrow, in every city and town, in the windows of the principle dry goods stores, there will be an exhibit of the famous

"Health Brand" Ladies Underwear

These windows will be set apart to give the public an opportunity of seeing the great variety of styles and shades produced in the famous "Health Brand." You will see that the finest underwear can be sold at reasonable prices—that a perfect fit and a perfect finish can be produced by Canadian skill. Above all, that the "Health Brand" is made of purest wool—made absorbent, but not irritant—made in sizes to fit any figure—made in fact, to be returned if not just right. Can you ask more? An endless variety of Men's and Children's underwear is also made in the "Health Brand."

For sale by J. P. Beauchamp.

—No halls or opera houses large enough for McPhee and Kiser's big shows.

—When dealing with your tradesmen please mention The Progress. Some of our business men think it does not pay to advertise; we wish to show them that it does, and that the local paper is read.

—We are in receipt of a special number of the Western Churchman, published in the interests of the Church of England in Manitoba and the Northwest. It contains, besides the proceedings of the late synod, many illustrations and matters of interest to not only churchmen but the public generally. It is printed by the Colonist Publishing Co., Revs. W. T. Mitton, M.A., and Rev. Robt. C. Johnston, F.E.I.S., being associate editors.

—E. D. Clark, and J. Muir, of Guelph, Ont., who have been spending a month at Parklands and visiting the district of the Qu'Appelle valley, returned east on Monday evening. Mr. Clark has a farm at Parklands which he has rented. Both gentlemen speak very highly of the country and return highly delighted with their visit. They were much surprised at the quantity and quality of the small fruits which grow here, and think that larger fruit could be grown to advantage in this district, as there is plenty of shelter. Mr. Clark may return next spring and become one of us.

—The October number of the Delineator is called the Autumn number, and its many colored plates of dress modes and millinery reflect the rich but subdued tints characterizing autumnal fashions. Mothers will find especially helpful the directions for fitting out the family with autumn and winter clothing. The literary matter shows a continuance of the high quality lately noted, two brilliant additions to the list of contributors being made in Frances Lynde and Viola Allen. The former is represented by a spirited story of the Tennessee mountains, crisp and vivid as an etching. The latter brings her experience as leading lady at the Empire theatre, New York city, to the discussion of the stage as a profession for women. These, together with the regular list of contributors on all subjects pertaining to the household in the October Delineator, will be found a fund of information most entertaining and instructive.

It Saved Our Child.
"My little daughter, three and a half years old, suffered three years with Eczema. Her little body was covered with the itching rash, and doctors did no good. Four boxes of Chase's Ointment have entirely cured and saved our child. Her skin is clear and not a sign of rash is to be seen." Andrew Aiton, Hartland, N.B. Mr. Aiton is one of thousands benefited by this unailing cure for piles and skin diseases.
